

LANGUAGE CENTER ARTICLE – OCTOBER 2006

Meet Maggie....

... a miniature miracle who marches through the doors of the Scottish Rite Language Center twice each week. Even after a full year of hard work in speech therapy, she still wears a smile that can light up the room. And, she boasts a spirited determination that will surely, someday, light up the world.

These days, however, Maggie's might is directed toward her current challenge... learning to talk. Maggie has so much to say, so many stories to tell. But every new word is a challenge. After attending weekly therapy sessions (individualized to meet her unique needs and make use of her many talents), Maggie now has a bank of new words to call upon when telling her tales and making new friends.

Maggie and her family sincerely appreciate the gifts of all who support Spokane RiteCare -- a place where such miracles continue to grow.

Submitted by: Michelle Gifford, MA, CCC-SLP